K. OF P. LODGE

ELEGANT LUNCHEON

Appropriately Honored Golden Anniversary of the Lodge—Big Crowd Present.

More than fifty members of the K. of P. Lodge turned out through the severe cold last night to do honor to the fiftieth birthday of that order, and were handsomely entertained at luncheon after the lodge concluded degree work.

Mr. A. W. Buchanan, one of the oldest Pythians present, consented to act as toastmaster and after everyone present had been served with something to eat, performed this task with the grace and fitness for which he is especially noted.

A few of the older members were first called upon, who responded readily, giving their experiences and benefits which had been derived from their connections with the order, which were helpful, especially to the younger member, and thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Near midnight the meeting adjourned with a unanimous feeling of good fellowship, and a stronger determination to make the Brazos Lodge No. 64, K. of P., true to its teachings, and to extend their good work beyond the borders of its lodge room.

WANT COLLEGES SEPARATED.

Former Students of A. & M. Took Preliminary Steps at Dallas.

Dallas, Tex., Feb. 25.—About fifty former students and alumni of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas met in executive session at the Chamber of Commerce Sunday and took preliminary steps to secure the separation of the Agricultural and Mechanical College from the University of Texas. An amicable division of the permanent endowment and income bearing property of the University of Texas was asked by the college men.

The meeting was held following a call issued by P. L. Downs of Temple, president of the Agricultural and Mechanical College Alumni Association. Besides asking for the separation of the two colleges and an equal apportionment of the endowment fund, a resolution was also passed to the effect that the directors of the Agricultural and Mechanical College should be notified by the alumni of the type of man whom they desire appointed as president of the institution.

REV. W. R. BROWN

GOES TO BRENHAM

Has Accepted a Call to the Pastorate of the First Baptist Church at That Place.

Rev. W. R. Brown has accepted the call of the First Baptist Church, and will move over and become a permanent citizen of Brenham in the very near future.

He preached two sermons at the First Baptist Church Sunday, and many of the representative people of Brenham were present, especially at the evening sermon. Rev. Brown lives at Bryan, and is one of the forceful preachers of Texas. He is still a young man, but full of fire and zeal and is thoroughly well qualified in every particular to build up the church at Brenham along broad, liberal and progressive lines and in harmony with the doctrine of the great religious organization he so ably represents.

There was a large attendance Sunday morning, and the building was crowded for sitting room Sunday evening, which shows he is able to attract and hold large audiences in a most interesting and entertaining manner.—Brenham Banner-Press.

The many nice things said of Bro. Brown by the Banner-Press are true, and the longer he lives in Brenham the more thoroughly will the good people of that city be convinced of the fact. He is not only a splendid preacher, but also an earnest, devout man of God. He is filled with the spirit of charity, of sympathy, of good will, and is a valuable and helpful man to any community.

The people of Bryan, among whom he has lived and labored for the past three years, have learned to love him because of his worth as a man, a citizen and a Christian minister. They regret exceedingly to lose him and his family from their midst, yet the very best wishes of all go with them to their new field of labor.

APPROVES EAGLE'S
GOOD ROAD PLAN

Believes Dragging Is the Proper Thing to Do, But It Should Be Done in a Certain Way.

To The Bryan Eagle:

If you will allow space in your valuable paper, I would like to say just a few words about the upkeep of the public roads of our settlement. The Eagle has pointed out from time to time the importance of dragging the roads after each rain; all of which is very good, and should be carried out. But what I wanted to say was about the way those drags are operated on the roads. All that I have seen operated are just hooked on and pulled over the road, like logging off a corn field; pulled straight across the road with no thought of working the dirt to the middle of the road. My idea of the operation of a road drag is to drag in such a way that will build the road up instead of dragging it down. As The Eagle says, when the road is once graded in can be kept in good order with a drag if properly operated. But as long as the dragging is done as it is at present, the dragging is of very little value in the way of keeping the road built up.

Another thing that The Eagle says is just the thing to do. That is to let each overseer have a drag. Then for the commissioner to see that they are operated on the road after each rain as soon as it can be done. Then we will have good roads all over the county. We country folks like good roads, too, and most of us believe that we can have them with the proper attention at the right time and place.

With best wishes to The Eagle, I am, respectfully,

H. G. YOUNGBLOOD.

Feb. 23, 1914.

CLARK HOWELL

NOT IN RACE

South Georgia Man Expected to Be Successor to the Late Senator Bacon.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 25.—Governor John M. Slaton and Clark Howell, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, yesterday held several conferences in regard to the appointment by the Georgia executive of a successor to the late Senator Bacon. Although Mr. Howell notified Governor Slaton that he desired consideration of his name eliminated it is authoritatively stated that the editor was told he could have the appointment if he wished it.

In a letter to Governor Slaton published yesterday, Mr. Howell asked that his name should not be considered because he believed the appointment should go to South Georgia, from which section of the State the late Senator Bacon came.

In a reply to Mr. Howell's letter, made public this afternoon, Governor Slaton says:

"While I think lines of thought should be more potent in the choice of a Senator than lines of latitude or longitude, and fitness more necessary than geographical location, I appreciate your suggestion."

Continuing, the writer enumerates what he terms Mr. Howell's qualifications for the position, and adds: "These considerations would have made your appointment a singularly appropriate one."

It is believed that Governor Slaton will make the appointment today, and it is generally conceded that the man selected will be a South Georgian.

Editor Starts Fourth Paper.

Sealy—The Austin County News is the title of a new weekly publication at this place, and is edited by J. B. Moran of New Ulm, who is publisher of a daily paper at that place, which is the smallest town in the United States to support a daily paper. He is also editor and publisher of two other Austin County papers.
